Are you interested in becoming a USU Recruiting Officer (URO)?

Do you want to increase your citizenship to the University?

The Uniformed Services University Office for Recruitment and Admissions is looking for interested military physicians, HPSP scholarship graduates, faculty, retirees, and alumni who are willing to represent the University at recruiting events throughout the country. Volunteers will have the opportunity to visit their alma maters and/or universities near their hometowns, duty stations, or current medical practices. The intent of these activities is to spread information about USU and develop relationships with pre-health advisors and interested applicants by sharing our personal experiences as military physicians. The USU recruiting team will provide you with all the information and training necessary to participate in these events. As a designated USU Recruiting Officer (URO), staff can also use these activities to develop their CV's in support academic promotions at the University.
